DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Amended claims 1, 4, and 5 have been re-examined and new claims 6 and 7 have been examined.
2. Amendments A1-A12 have been noted.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

3. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tso (US Pat No.6085201 A).

As per claims 1 and 7, Tso teaches of an information processing device for transmitting and receiving electronic mail over a transmission line comprising of: a screen (see Fig.1, #2'); a memory means (see Fig.2, #4), a content selecting means for presenting a contents of received mail and requiring a user to pick there from contents necessary for preparing a reply to the received mail (see Fig.3 and col.4, lines 48-51); an answer message selecting means for requiring a user to select answer examples stored by the memory means (see Fig.3 and col.5, lines 42-48), and a reply mail preparing means (see Fig.3; Fig.4; and col.6, lines 66-67 to col.7, lines 1-13).

As per claims 6, Tso teaches of a storage medium carry a program readable by a computer (see col.3, lines 21-28), which the program causes the computer to execute the step of: displaying received mail to a user by a screen; requiring the user to select the necessary contents from the received mail and storing into a reply contents storage means; presenting candidate answer examples previously stored in storage and requiring the user to select answer examples as a selected candidate answer and storing; and preparing a reply mail by associating reply contents with answer examples and storing in reply mail storage means (see claim 1 rejection above).

As per claim 2, Tso teaches that one of the response actions can be responding to the writer (see col.4 lines 31-34). It would be inherit that such a response would entail setting the sender of the received mail as an addressee, to, or the like and the receiver of the received mail as the addresser, from, or the like.

As per claim 3, Tso teaches that the reply example mail can be stored into a memory means (see Fig.2, #4 and col.2 lines 31-33).

As per claims 4 and 5, Tso discusses about a program readable by a computer able to perform the functions described above (see claim 2 rejection above).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
